

MR. HANNA CONFIDENT.

Professes to Believe That Everything Is Rosy For Republicans.

OTHERS ARE DUBIOUS.

They Declare That the Republicans
Will Have to Work Hard.

READY FOR NOTIFICATION.

Republican Chairman's Visit Had to Do
With That Formality—Cleveland
Banker Says Plenty of Delegations Will Come To Canton.

Senator M. A. Hanna, chairman of the Republican national committee, was a Canton visitor Tuesday, as announced in the News-Democrat. As soon as he arrived he was driven to the McKinley home and was closeted with President McKinley for an hour. The result of that conference was given out to the newspapers after it had ended. Mr. Hanna told what he came for. He said that he and Col. Myron T. Herrick and Rittman, a Cleveland banker, had come down for the purpose of seeing Mr. McKinley socially and incidentally talking over the little surprise party that is to be held when the president is notified that he has again been chosen to lead the Republican party in a campaign for president. It was a very delicate subject as Mr. McKinley had to be told all about it without having him understand what it was all about, but Mr. Hanna looked as if he had been quite equal to the task and was in a jolly humor.

"The notification committee will meet in Cleveland July 11," said he and will take a special train for Canton, arriving here about 11:30 o'clock. The committee will proceed to President McKinley's residence and there apprise him of its mission. After the notification the committee will separate and dissolve. At the same time that President McKinley is being notified the committee appointed to notify Governor Roosevelt of his nomination for vice president will meet in New York and proceed to Oyster Bay where the governor will be formally notified. It is a plan to have the notification speeches made simultaneously here and at Oyster Bay."

Chairman Hanna was informed of a late press dispatch that stated that Mr. Bryan insisted on a specific declaration for free silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 and was asked what he thought the effect on the campaign would be. He said:

"Now, what is the use in asking me that question. You know as well as I what the effect will be. The more they say about 16 to 1 the greater will the Republican chances for success be enhanced."

"What of the doubtful states, such as New York, Indiana, Kentucky and the like?" was asked.

"You'll have to see Grosvenor about that," said Hanna. He attends to the figuring. The close states are his job.

A BIG AFFAIR.

Citizens of Canton will remember the visit of the notification committee in 1896, headed by Senator Thurston, of Nebraska, and will remember it as one of the impressive incidents of that remarkable campaign. The committee came down from Cleveland as this one will do. The Grand Army band had been engaged and met the committee at the Valley train. The Miller-Blanchard brake and a brake from Massillon was used to convey the party to the McKinley home, headed by the band. There was a great crowd at the depot, though this close proximity to national politics was not entirely appreciated by the people, who stood with open mouths and watched the proceedings. Chairman Hanna was little known. He had been here a few times, but when special business in connection with Mr. McKinley's nomination was to be transacted Mr. McKinley usually went to Cleveland. So there was a desire on the part of the people to see Hanna. He got off the train and was not recognized. By the time he got ready to get aboard the brake there was but one seat left. That was a front seat and in order to reach it a circuitous route had to be taken. The chairman, the man who claimed he had made McKinley, but whom as a matter of fact, McKinley had made, was obliged to climb up about the middle of the vehicle, work his way along the brake rod, up over the wheel and the back of the seat. He was too fat to do it and had to be helped by the members of the committee, while the crowd laughed. Since that time Hanna has come to Canton frequently and is quite well known.

This year there will be more elaborate preparations for the notification committee and there is likely to be more visitors than those pilgrims appointed for this specific purpose. It is learned that both the Grand Army and Thayer's Military bands have been engaged for the day. This is anticipated to mean that there will be some delegations thrown in by the national committee in order to give the candidate a chance to say what he wants to off-hand, without waiting to tender his formal acceptance through an open letter, as is the custom. A close friend of the Republican candidate and campaign is authority for the statement that it is not believed by the national chairman that all is plain sailing. He knows that Col. Bryan is going to make the campaign of his life and he recalls how, four years ago, when there didn't seem to be a ghost of a show for a Democrat when the St. Louis convention was held, the Republicans got scared almost out of their boots before the campaign was well started. They were taken off their feet then and it was only by a mighty and much needed effort that the stampede was avoided, though less than 25,000 votes, properly distributed, would have elected Mr. Bryan. This year it is intended to watch every move of the enemy. Said this friend of the McKinley household:

"There are to be no chances taken this year. This question of expansion must be presented to the people in the right light or we are going to have trouble carrying the election. The people are having difficulty in understanding the difference between expansion and imperialism and I am frank to say we have not made it very plain to them. Col. Bryan and the Democratic orators, and doubtless the platform, will make the issue plain and it will have to be met. The people know that whatever the declaration of the Kansas City platform about free silver at 16 to 1 or any other ratio, free silver cannot be secured now in the term of the next man who is elected president. So it is not the issue this fall, whatever may be said about it. The public is going to listen to the presentation of the issue that is the most vital at the present time and expansion and the trusts will be the issues discussed. And they will have to be met. President McKinley will have to do some talking whether he wants to or not. Of course Roosevelt, being a good campaigner, helps the ticket and relieves McKinley somewhat, but no man in the party can say things just as the president can say them and he will have to do some talking. There will be plenty of visitors in Canton before the campaign ends."

Banker Rittman, of Cleveland, made the same reference to the campaign, when approached, as did this friend of the family. He said that Mr. McKinley could not keep from making some speeches if he would. "There will be a delegation here to see him," said he, "and he will have to talk with them. He can't get out of it."

So when the notification committee comes there is a surface indication that the occasion is going to be much larger than in 1896.

Case Heirs Appeal.

Cleveland Leader: United States District Attorney John J. Sullivan yesterday held a conference with Judge W. R. Day, of the United States circuit court in reference to the Case heirs case involving the title of the proposed site for the new government building. Mr. Sullivan is extremely anxious to have the controversy, which is now awaiting the decision of the United States circuit court of appeals, disposed of at the earliest possible moment, so that the new building may be begun at once. Mr. Sullivan has already besought Judge Horace H. Lorton, presiding judge of the court, to admit the case on July 13. Judge Lorton was of the opinion that it would be impossible. Nothing daunted, however, Mr. Sullivan

HOBOKEN HAS ANOTHER HORROR.

Five People Burned to Death
In Tenement House Fire.

CUT OFF BY THE FLAMES.

The Fire Broke Out Early This Morning
While the Families Were Asleep—
The Financial Loss Is
About $12,000.

[News-Democrat Leased Wire Service.]
New York, July 3.—Hoboken had another fire horror today. Twelve people lost their lives. Eight bodies have been identified. The other four are so badly charred that identification is difficult. Five members of one family named Winkelman perished. All were children. The mother, Mrs. Maggie Winkelman, made a desperate effort to save her little ones. She succeeded in rescuing only the youngest child, fourteen months old. She was severely burned and jumped from a window to save her life. The dead are Fred, Charles, Edna, Edith and William Winkelman. Jacob Michaus, August Bachman and August Bender. Four unidentified bodies. Fire broke out at 2:30 a. m. Members of the families occupying the house were all asleep, except Mrs. Winkelman, who had arisen to prepare her husband's breakfast. Mrs. Winkelman roused the sleeping inmates by her shrieks and made heroic efforts to save her children who were sleeping in the garret.

She is sure she saw a man sneak out of the hall a few minutes before the fire was discovered. Investigation by the police resulted later in the arrest of Henry Vogt, a saloonkeeper, on suspicion that he is the incendiary. The building burned like timber and was soon in ruins. One of the unidentified dead is believed to be a Mrs. Brown, a tenant, who is missing.

A Kindly Thought.

Philadelphia Times: It was a very kindly thought of the minister who preached in the Canton church which Mr. McKinley attended last Sunday to make his sermon a glorification of the beauties of expansion. The president made a godly contribution when the plate was passed around.

MARRIED TWICE.

Stark County Man and Carroll
County Woman Join Hands.

Lisbon, July 3.—A marriage license was granted to Wm. Gutcheil, of Magnolia, and Cora Tarbot, of West township, this county, and they were married. This is the second time that these people have married each other within the past two years. Several years ago Gutcheil married another woman with whom he did not get along well. He left her and she applied for a divorce. He was in the Spanish war in 1898, and upon his return being informed that the divorce had been granted, he married Miss Tarbot. Last winter his first wife was burned to death in Pittsburg, when it became known that she and Mr. Gutcheil had never been actually divorced, owing to a legal technicality. Gutcheil was arrested on the charge of bigamy, but the recent grand jury failed to indict him, there being no wrongful intent. To make matters sure they have been remarried.

Harry Leles and Harry Brumpter, of Wooster, are the guests of Mr. Leles' sister, Mrs. William Steiber, at the Yoke.
